

The 9th Annual Conference of the Association of Divorce Financial Planners

Coming to the Doral Arrowwood Resort:
Conference September 23-24, 2011
Pre-Conference ADFP University September 22

An Exceptional Event at an Exceptional Location
Treat Yourself. . .

Convenient to NYC but far enough from Manhattan's frenzied pace, the Doral Arrowwood resort is the ideal location for relaxed social networking in an elegant, comfortable atmosphere. Take in the kaleidoscope of autumn foliage while enjoying some downtime with your mentors and fellow practitioners. Whether you're taking in a few holes at the Robert von Hagge-designed golf course, sampling the cornucopia of the hotel's restaurants, or just relaxing with a cocktail in the living room, you'll have ample time to renew and rejuvenate.

Learning Take-Aways:

- Best practices to help you differentiate your business and achieve a new "gold standard" in divorce finance
- Innovative ways to create new revenue streams
- What the "new normal" means in today's divorce finance
- How to capture more of this rapidly evolving niche with real-world advice from some of the top experts in your industry
- How to give yourself the professional edge you need
- How to exceed your – and your clients' – greatest expectations

Why Should You Attend?

This is the ideal venue for seasoned practitioners to take your profession to the next level, or for anyone to learn more about divorce financial issues. If you're a new practitioner, it's your chance to accelerate into this niche profession.

Who Should Attend?

Divorce finance practitioners, financial professionals looking to capture a niche in this exploding market, allied divorce professionals seeking a more tactical understanding of financial issues: Judges, Attorneys, Paralegals, Therapists and Counselors, Mediators, Child Specialists, and other professionals looking to have a better grasp of financial issues in divorce: CPAs, Financial Advisors, Mortgage Loan Officers, Appraisers, Insurance Agents or Realtors.

This is the ideal venue for anyone who wants to learn more about divorce financial issues.

a New Season

a New Gold Standard for the ADFP

This fall, experience an exceptional three days at the world-class Doral Arrowwood Resort, networking with your peers and harvesting the extensive knowledge from some of the leaders in divorce financial planning. This year's conference is taking our profession to a new "gold standard," with many of your industry's preeminent financial advisors, attorneys, and other cutting-edge practitioners – all united to help you exceed your greatest expectations.

Challenge Yourself. . .

This two-day ADFP Conference is a golden opportunity to learn from some of the best divorce financial practitioners in the nation. This year will feature even more networking activities and learning events as we take our expanding profession to the next level. From ethics and tax issues to retirement plans and estate planning, the experts in your field will take a tactical approach to mastering the most challenging issues in divorce financial planning.

In addition to the Conference, you'll also have the chance to attend the Pre-Conference ADFP University September 22, a one-day immersion covering taxes, Family Law Software, PR strategies, and the ever-evolving role of divorce finance in litigation, mediation, and collaboration.
